

Hepburn Wind - Making News

Dear Hepburn Wind supporter,

On a day where the election result left the whole nation wondering, another story also made the news. Hepburn Wind was profiled on ABC TV's Inside Business as an model for socially responsible investment in community enterprises.

We also received a positive mention by The Economist in an article on community reaction to wind farms.

The members of Hepburn Wind should all be very proud of the project's achievements and the leading role it is playing in creating a space for viable, community renewable energy projects in Australia.

As our profile grows, so does our membership - we now have over 1,300 members who together have contributed over $8.2m and we are delighted to be close to our capital target.

We would like to thank all our members and supporters for their commitment and energy in building Australia's first community wind farm - you have helped pave the way for future renewable energy projects which will represent real change.

As we prepare to start construction and our turbine components enter production, it is still possible for Victorian residents to join Hepburn Wind. We encourage you to become new members and continue to build Hepburn Wind as a shining example of what communities can do when they work together.

Our offer document is available at: www.hepburnwind.com.au/register.htm

We'll be keeping you up to date with project developments, with a member meeting due out in the next fortnight.

Regards,

Simon Holmes à Court
Chairman

FOLLOW US ON TWITTER

If you haven't already checked out our Twitter feed, you should! See Hepburn Wind and related news there first! See <http://twitter.com/hepburnwind> for more information.

